

Introducing a Method for Achieving Standardization and Harmonization in Clinical and Research Laboratory Centers

Dastmardi, M. (MSc)

PhD Student of Industrial Engineering, Kharazmi University, Tehran, IRAN

Ebrahimi, A. (MSc)

Instructor of Architectural Engineering, Islamic Azad University, Varamin Branch, IRAN

Mirdamadi, A. (BSc.)

BSc of Industrial Engineering, Materials and Energy Research Center, Tehran, Iran

Ebrahimi A. (MSc)

MSc of Industrial Engineering, Islamic Azad University, South Tehran Branch, Iran

Ebrahimi, H. (BSc)

MSc Student of Management Entrepreneurship, Tehran University, Tehran, Iran

Ebrahimzadeh Rajaei, Sh. (MSc)

MSc of Chemical Engineering, National Oil Company, EOR Institute, Tehran, Iran

Corresponding author:

Dastmardi, M.

Email: m.dastmardi@ippi.ac.ir

Received: 21 Apr 2012

Revised: 14 Jun 2013

Accepted: 17 Jun 2013

Abstract

Background and Objective: Proficiency testing schemes as a part of quality system in clinical and research laboratory centers provides the opportunity to evaluate the quality of test results. In this paper, we try to introduce the proficiency testing schemes as a useful method for achieving standardization and homogenization of test results in clinical and research laboratory centers.

Keywords: Proficiency Testing Schemes, Quality Improvement, Laboratory Centers